

The Edo-Tokyo Museum opened its doors on March 28, 1993, as a space to reflect on the history and culture of Edo-Tokyo and to envision the city and life in the future. Thirty years have passed, and we are now undergoing a major renovation, for which reason we will be closed until sometime in the spring of 2026 (planned). However, we are pleased to announce that, similarly to last year, we will be holding an exhibition to showcase some of our permanent collections at the Tokyo Metropolitan Art Museum in Ueno.

The exhibition will present a part of our permanent exhibitions across the LB and 1st floors. The exhibits include our popular interactive replicas such as the “Box for gold coins” and “Rickshaw,” and other related materials. There will also be a special exhibition on the 2nd floor, which introduces the history of Ueno, where the exhibition is held, through nishiki-e (colored woodblock prints) and postcards.

We hope these exhibitions will provide an opportunity to experience the charm of the Edo-Tokyo Museum, as well as the history and culture of Edo-Tokyo, through a wide range of our collections.

Famous Views of the Eastern Capital: Waiting for the Moon on the 26th Night at Takanawa/ Printed on Banner UTAGAWA Hiroshige c.1841-1842

Rickshaw (a man-pulled cart)/ Replica Meiji period

Special Exhibition : The Transforming Townscape of Ueno

This exhibition introduces the history and townscape transformation of Ueno through nishiki-e (colored woodblock prints) and postcards. Enjoy seeing how Ueno has evolved over time.

One Hundred Famous Views of Edo: Hirokōji Avenue, Shitaya
UTAGAWA Hiroshige 9th Month, 1856

Steam Train Leaving Ueno, Tokyo INOUE Yasuji 19th century

[Exhibition Hours] 9:30-17:30 (Last admission 17:00)
[Closed] None (Open everyday during exhibition period)
[Organized by] Tokyo Metropolitan Edo-Tokyo Museum operated by Tokyo Metropolitan Foundation for History and Culture

Access

- 7 min walking from JR Ueno Station "Park Gate."
 - 10 min walking from Ueno Station "Exit 7", Tokyo Metro Ginza Line and Hibiya Line.
 - 10 min walking from Keisei Line Keisei Ueno Station.
- *No parking area, so please refrain from coming by car.

<https://www.edo-tokyo-museum.or.jp>
[Contact] 050-5541-8600(9:00-20:00)

